I was waiting on the bus to take me some place I thought I needed to be but it never came, so I decided to go towards the lights near a car park where people were coming from. They looked full of life with laughter talking with each other almost like they were dancing. I thought I was going in a movie theatre at first but it turned out to be a church that was filled with Melanin-rich people. I had made myself unclean before entering the church and cleaned myself in the church. I went to the men's bathroom when I saw just men and one woman that was an outlier who entered the same section as me and cleaned herself off as well.

Interpretation (Dec 17)

The prayed and their prayers turned into nightmares for me. It's because these dreams happened right on Sunday (Saturday night). Either that or I'm traumatized.

Dream_Dream 10_201010_101433.txt

I had a dream that we were in this game or something where a monster or person with powers were chasing us reminiscent of Caesar Clown from OP. We were in this house trying to survive or hideout and we were dying out one by one. It was like all of us, Andrew, Jerome maybe Koen and couple other people were Luffy's crew and we shadowed those characters. I also liked Andrew's cousin who actually was a girl I flirted with in a Journal or 2 ago in the Discord. She let me add her on Facebook for some reason and we were just chatting for a bit. I think she used to decorate stuff and had a bunch of colorful stickers all over the place. I tried to hint at Andrew that I liked his cousin and wanted to flex, but then he started attacking me for no reason or something like he was Luffy the most op character in OP. It was like CC was controlling him. I think Morgan might have been there too, maybe it was the whole Among us discord group in fact. Anyway, that's all I remember.

I had a dream I had a computer virus and the person didn't allow me to shutdown my computer and wanted to have a video call . I also had a dream that a few people from my high school were hanging out and we were on this long line up some stairs and there were things on the walls in our path that we had to admit in order to proceed. I skipped and admitted that I did something that I never did before because I was impatient. The soccer girl just looked at me as I went and everyone else was surprised but I just didn't care. Eventually, we ended up in a room all together and the soccer girl was curious and we started wrestling for some reason, but I didn't use all of my strength and didn't do the finishing move cause why would I do that. Then we went on Twitter for some reason to talk about what happened with other people. The End.

Also, I had another dream where I was hanging out with people reminiscent of Yung Filly and the other British youtubers I started watching recently where we were in a school of all ages trying to sort books and give them out and other random shenanigans.

Had a dream that I was dating my best friend. We talked so many things and one thing I'm not comfortable with. Whenever I had an afro or even a short cut, she would call me her ex name. It was kinda bad. My enemy came out of nowhere and kinda beat me up or did something bad to me and left me in a state. After that I had to explain to her and opened up. Plus I couldn't show my true self without her getting uncomfortable so it was an L.

It was only fun when she would tell me about her day and how she used to work to find a cure for Covid when she took samples from the public. When this happened, she literally looked like a different person, someone skinny and slightly taller but not sure who it was.

Dream_Dream 13_201214_070240.txt

I dreamed about Alecia and it was so strange since I haven't seen her in like forever. I almost didn't recognize her how tall she got. I think Uncle Charles may have been there too with other random people I forgot about. We were in a car and I was wearing the classic old looking jeans I used to wear when I worked for Water and Sewerage. It felt like old times when Uncle Charles used to drop me off places but it was just strange. I don't know why my brain picked up something like this so randomly.

Paige and I talked for ages in a dream where we were somewhere atop mountains or in a cold place or something. She watched me shower but I was in underwear for some reason. She was like my personal assistant or something cuz she followed me around, gave me spare underwear, gave advice and all kind of things. There were people from our graduating class in the dream like David then talking about sex n thing as usual. Then this other girl came into the shower with us and this other dude who was minding his business. Then I told the girls not to worry about what they saw then they began to discuss penis size, told them mine and the girl asked if I was 19. Then I was like, do you want to die? Then she began to explain that penis size matters for you to "Run a family" and I was like "Sex doesn't run a family, that's just sex." Then I proceeded to mock her by doing the thinking face to that guy as she was speechless at that point. Then, I forceably got myself out of the dream because that made no sense and probably was gonna go downhill in terms of moral and ethics. I think earlier in the dream I was worried about an invisible man entering our house when it was just me and Stazzie home in what probably resembled Nassau but wasn't really because our house was different, the roads were different, but I think I drove daddy's car that he gave to me. I drove wreckers and probably eventually reached a high point up a mountain to reach the cold. May have been somewhere other The Bahamas...

Also I think I had a dream where I was in this weird school that I don't think I attended but I was talking to Rea either from what we might have thought was long distance or we were linking up and it was exciting seeing her again with her short hair. We met at a staircase and we were going up to somewhere and I think I lost track of time, then I think I just ended the dream there for some reason, I have no idea why.

I had a dream where I used to get picked up from school by this strange taxi that was arranged by my parents. It used to pick up my sister too from some building. Now, out of nowhere, this tall, slim and shapey girl just came into existence and started catching rides. It's like I never asked for this and it just happened. We started having random conversations and they actually made sense. It was so random but I think it was a construct of the dream to test me or something. It was one time we planned to go to this dinner with my sister and this girl. This time in the taxi, I didn't wear my mask because I only had one and threw it away. The girl didn't have a mask, neither did the taxi driver. But we still talked to each other, even about the situation we were in. I started pulling up my sweater to cover my mouth as I thought this was real life somehow. She kinda did something similar. Then, we arrived to the restaurant. She looked well-dressed with a lightly colored dress, probably some nice make-up and earrings. But, it was random because I had no idea who she was. I don't think I ever asked her name. So, we were the first ones to arrive to the restaurant. She picked the booth seats and I sat across from her. Then we stared at each other for a bit, communicating through eye contact. I was like, "So... how are you?" because I had no idea what to say at that point. Then Stazzie arrived with random friends of hers and this random little girl who was related to her friend by some way. The girl started talking to the annoying little girl then I casually just faded out the dream, still hearing the dialogue, then I was like eh, might as well end it just to be safe.

This lady at this rehab type facility asked me what I was doing that night, and asked me on a date. I was like eh. Then she asked if we could talk, whenever she needed something or whenever I needed something, we could talk and it was weird. She gave me a number like 018-018-0188 or something so I was confused. The lady ended up needing treatment because of something severe that happened to her.

A next dream was when there was this restaurant where the cooks and staff were ladies who wore little to nothing and I ended up walking through kitchen, passing each of them and I was being toured around by one of them. I also ended up sitting down with 2 of them and there was this weird chair that made you sit a certain way. They even showed me myself 2 years ago where I sat in the same seat and made some mistakes or something.

Another dream was when I was talking to an African girl then a Uruguayan girl.

There was one girl who was my enemy and was after me for some reason and I had run away from her. When in school, someone said "She's here." Then I got terrified, said her name and was about to run away. But then I was stopped because of the girl from Uruguay. We hugged and held each other, then I sang this song to her like "My Facebook baby blows away" or some random spin off of a song from the 80s. It was very weird.

I had a dream where I made a beat from a last minute preset sample for a girl that Jerome was involved with where she sang to our class at school. I think before this we were getting things set up or something. I think Paige, Andrew, Koen and a few randoms were there. I remember us being covered in half dried sweat talking about random things near a staircase in a random portion of the dream. I would probably say a few jokes like I usually do with classmates. I think out of nowhere the administrators like SeÅ±ora and Shona were mad at me for something I never thought would get me in trouble, and that was being myself. I guess these demons don't like to see me be the person God wants me to be. I had to pack all my things from school and had to carry 2 heavy bags similar to the 2 grocery I have to carry back to Stazzie apartment when I come from the store. I was upset so I had to talk about what happened to Maia as she was passing after school. I explained everything to her, that Shona got angry when I had a valid point that she would expel me for being myself, and Shona had an angry, enraged comeback, "WELL, SO BE IT!" Then I told Maia to enjoy her Christmas if that even made sense. She was not ecstatic or supportive in the slightest. That's all I remember from the dream. This goes to show, nobody was there when I was in the gutter and the one there is myself.

Dream_Dream 18_210128_093446.txt

I had a dream that my college friends were playing games on a call. Then after, Rea called to other dudes including her ex but they didn't pick up. Then she called me. This was from her point of view btw. She said hi, muted her mic to wait for me to talk, then would ask a question. It was a bit awkward. She was about to ask something like "We need to talk" but the dream cut her off in her words because Stazzie has work and making noise smh.

Dream_Dream 19_210204_082100.txt

I had a dream I commented on one of Nyles' YouTube videos and he pinned it and it got 100K+ likes.

Dream_Dream 1_200914_220806.txt

I dreamt I was at some sort of school cafeteria where certain things weren't allowed and Mr Dorsett enforced and I met a few new people and at first they didn't like me but I started a random conversation with them. We talked about a YouTube video me and my friends were in and compared it to a play you watch then forget after a week. Then she asked me what actor changed my life. Then I just willingly exited the dream.

I also dreamt something where someone was being kicked by an evil person and still managed to end up where they needed to be. There were volcanic material on the coast of a vast ocean and mountains on the ocean as well. The person actually challenged them to a basketball match and they drew and after that everyone day each other. In the cafeteria I was mad at Jerome because he was being annoying and Koen was there. Dominique was there too and all I said was my usual awkward "Hi Dominique" then she would walk away as usual. Also I saw Adrianna and she was acting her usual way always saying I'm in the wrong or something. That part is fuzzy

I was someone else and we were doing activities around Our Lady's campus but we were of age adults just viking and there were 2 girls that I was torn apart with. I knew for sure which one but the construct of the dream was weird. One of them were short, cute and just my type and the other one just wasn't. I think it's because I wasn't even in my own body. I was a tall, fat guy. Then I transformed into someone slimmer but it just wasn't me then it was like I was watching "myself" do things in 3rd person where it was the demonic things that always repeat in my dreams as of late and the 2 girls were there. I was weak and didn't know what I was doing and I didn't know what was happening.

I had to hang onto a screw fastener on a massive truck that was operated by Morgan while he did donuts with it on a random patch of grass on the side of the street. Before this happened I was with my Aunties and a few other people doing random shopping. My mother got me some candy then she and another lady struggled with their groceries. So, I took some of their massive plastic bags and I struggled carrying them as I had a few bags of my own.

Even before this, I was in space with these weird people from different parts of the world and it seemed like I was stuck and wanted to go home. There were some scary monsters in this far away space world as if they were underwater at the same time. Also, there was a demonstration where a hot air balloon, fully submerged underwater at the bottom of the sea can catch fire and float up to the surface, causing destruction to itself and the area around it. Since I wanted to go home, this Japanese guy, one of the weird people, lead me through the planet that we were on and it was like there was technology in the pathing that marked where exactly to go. More specifically, there were white strips of thinly cracked glass on top of walls to climb, crevices or cracks. Eventually, we made it to what seemed to be a portal to Earth which lead us to Tokyo, Japan. Although, it appeared that we were in a Texas-shaped, landlocked country on the world map, far west of the east coast of Asia, or maybe near real life Saudi Arabia. I was thinking I would get a flight back home but all I remember from that place is me asking the Japanese guy's father how he got space in space, but he always paused to seem cinematic, but never told.

Somehow, my dream transitioned to that same situation where Morgan was manning what seemed to be a Monster Truck. It had a dirty carpet-like covering on its hood where nearly everyone there always mentioned "Don't sneeze on it," as if to allude that we were still in a pandemic. However, no one wore masks. Ricardo, Donovan, Alonzo and I (maybe a few others) were all holding onto the dirty cover as Morgan did donuts. When the vehicle came to a haul, I started walking off because I didn't wanna be there anymore. Of course, Morgan was begging me to stay but I was still headed back to wherever we came from. Eventually, my mother and Auntie Ellie intervened for some reason and I I doubled back. My mother said that she would leave all my belongings in the lot where we came from and pack it "tomorrow." I was so confused as it became dark outside.

Dream_Dream 22_210221_083714.txt

We were in this apartment complex and I was led into one room by Mrs. Bain out of all people from memory. It happened to be Sasha's room. It was so small with a dresser like mine back home, closet like mine as well, and a queen sized bed. This room had no kitchen, which I was looking for for the longest, but it just ended up being a bedroom. We were about to eat some home-cooked dinner and all sorts with friends. I don't remember exactly what went down. The last thing I remember is me watching TV while laying on her floor, then she came in with a few friends. That's it

Dream_Dream 22_210224_054005.txt

Met this girl that was clearly older than me on a late night walk with a group. Didn't know what this group was called but some friends like Alek were there. It was Feb 14 and we bouncing conversation off each other like it was natural and it was as if watching a funny sitcom how fluid and ridiculous it was. I held a valentines day basket from an event she attended the prior year. At one point she took it and fixed it up since she was familiar with it, then proposed to me to be my valentine. Of course I said sure. Then we ended up running into the darkness of night with streetlights and the moon our only lights, eventually ahead of our other peers. She was a big, wide and tall character and she said to not worry, she can still run or something. Reminded me of Thea's energy and some of Larissa and she was light skin. I remember I saw Chris say he would just start jogging and be himself alluding that he would kill himself and it was as if it was an overlay on my "screen".

Dream_Dream 23_210225_074928.txt

Some excited female Nigerians (4) were creeping on me when I wanted to take a shower. I joked about but then they never left me alone. When their guardian or whoever kept order in the house left, I tried to lock the entrance but somehow they kept getting in because they wanted to see me naked. I was so weirded out that I just let the dream be. I ended up trying to shower, then the shower turned to a fish tank. I opened the fish tank as if there was a door at the front. No water came out, then all of a sudden, I started swimming in the air just to get in the fish tank to "shower" then by intentional game design, I exited the dream.

Me, Rea and this random girl went to a church where we came from some place. I was stuck in the bathroom tryna figure out where my mask was at and I wasted time tryna watch videos and whatnot. I heard that they were in the back of the church just talking about the most stuff and God of course. I had just come from the streets where it was these parents or adults chasing me and some other animals around because somehow I was an animal as well. I remember a dog, cat and I probably was a chick. They almost knocked down the chick since the wheel literally almost crushed it. Then we turned into little kids running down the street, then we hid in the church so they wouldn't find us. This was the 2nd time I had the animal dream but it extended longer. Then I actually went to the church before this to clean my dirty clothes in the public bathroom. Yeah

Me and Harry from the sidemen rode around in this truck and we parked somewhere. Then, someone robbed the vehicle of its many parts. The boxes that held the parts were only left. We reported it to the police. Then a guy came with the exact same truck, trying to take the empty boxes from the stolen parts for something. Then I told Harry "This is your car!" Then Harry beat the life out of him, leaving him unconscious next to bushes. Then he became angry. There was this messaging app like a mesh between Whatsapp and messages where me and this girl were in a group chat of just random people. She kept trying to talk to me, or mentioned me in some sort of way. Like I remember she mentioned me about something, probably something she did for me and tried to give me, then put âœ. Then I attempted to text back but my ability to in the dream was warped. I always ended up typing gibberish because my dream didn't wanna see me winning. I think Chris responded in the group as well, thinking she was referring to the wrong Rajiv, not aware I was in a group with him. All of a sudden, when me and "Harry" started driving around, the street looked like Nassau roads, very narrow and busy. This street we initially turned onto reminded me of East Street after you reach the Checkers they just built there, near where Tario used to live. Then Harry turned into Logic, and he had a high pitched voice, similar to Aidan at ten years old. Then we drove through a school zone surrounded by children left and right, and they started to fill out papers Logic held for them or something. Of course they stared at me as I had a screw face majority of the time and somehow the car window was sliding on the side of my cheek even though I was in the passenger seat. The children ended up being a dataset in some code I wrote before during the dream, but it just appeared out of nowhere. Then I woke up.

Rea and I planned a movie night but just by ourselves. We were watching a Fairly Odd Parents type movie. We messaged in ig dms which was kinda weird. I kept trying to confess to her through text but my phone always freaks out when I try to send the message. Either that or I end up sending it to the wrong person or group. There were breaks in between pur watching where I got sidetracked doing something else like playing video games or watching another movie for at most 2 hours. Then I tried contacting her again. We started watching again then she disappeared somehow, like she left the call, but I didn't know what happened. I was confused and hurt and thought somethibg happened to her but nothing exciting happened. I admit I was lonely and missed her but the dream made it hard to talk to her continuously.

Dream_Dream 27_210319_092747.txt

Tileah and Darius and a few others were in my dream. We were stealing money and sometimes candy from this random public place where they were basically framing us with stuff they stole as well. Darius drove the last time we were there, me and Tileah were in the backseat and there was someone else with us, I forgot. Also previously, I was trying to get with someone but I forgot who exactly. Darius was supposed to drive back to our place, it was probably a college campus or something. But he drove wrecklessly, nearly crashing into many different things, including a school girl and her mom as they were by their car getting ready to leave. I don't know exactly what the point of the dream was really.

Was in a stadium with a few students. Had my eye on a girl. I think she was white or light skin, cute as hell hanging out with her group of friends. We were chilling, then all of a sudden, this dude showed up with guns and stuff and tried to kill people. Nigga pull up with an AR. Then I spit game to hg. Either that or she just slid up and was just talking to me, then gave me her phone number. She somehow made it weird. Then all of a sudden she turned into Rihanna. Then when night came, we had limited space to sleep where we slept curled up almost in a ball all lined up next to each other on an elevated surface. Then I point her out and the gal say she save me a spot, right where her butt was. So I was jokingly grabbing her by the waste and then humping her, having her giggle. The vibe she was giving off was between the forex gal who i don't even follow, this model who obviously into me and one white gal I talked to on the way to her bus stop.

Hunter was a made up character type thing i used to flirt with S but she always used to call me by my real name. It was like it was S and Rea at the same time. When they had silk problems, S asked for my help when everyone else was around and didn't know what to do. I made it up on the fly, requested to follow S, then she started saying my name weird like Rajivi and kept repeating it as if to say she really like what I did. Then the imaginary character Hunter showed up, then they started macking on each other. One time, not even the parents could control them at the dinner table. Hunter was white, then he turned black. Then S turned to Rea, and Hunter sorta resembled Darius with a short afro instead. Now he started acting predictable and wasn't too interesting her any more, started eating all the food and just sleeping all the time. Then Rea didn't like him anymore.

Dream_Dream 2_200918_082427.txt

I dreamt that I was at a version of school where my crush in 8th grade was my girlfriend I think because she was kissing me for no reason. Also, I was being chased by these Minecraft-like monsters all over the place during a ceremony. More happened but I don't remember.

Dream_Dream 30_210412_084613.txt

I went a friend of kine's house and their house swarmed with celebrity's like Kanye who dressed up as an injured man with crutches, an intelligent young girl (probably like 6 years old but looked 3), and a few others. I met her parents, went to her room and talked, dm'd on Instagram and talked. Even her friend was added to the dm when we flirted and started liking my replies. Something like "let's fly together, we could last long" or something based on something she said about flights or birds or something. She was about to go to a piano recital later that night at 10pm about to perform for some children, was a model, and many other great things. Even my father was there who walked in the living room where I just sat, wearing the most basic and just poor taste outfit in history, where he questioned what I was wearing. He mentioned to me that I may have underestimated this girl and what she brings. I think all of this manifested when she replied to my story last night out of nowhere because I posted a brownie. Then, she posted an enclosed photo of her brown with this 🐞 ominous emoji.

Dreamt I became nelicia's boyfriend through a video game where we try to navigate a plane as some funny characters, but then it turned to a real life thing at times where we hugged and posed for pics looking like a real couple. We talked like we were navigating through the game like "How do you do x,y,z? We were cute but it seemed like we had zero chemistry and felt pointless. We did have our moments but in general, it felt unnatural. Anyway, I screen recorded it and I decided to post it on ig stories then I deleted it, but in that split second, two hands full of people watched it. I had somethibg similar with Sasha but it wasn't a videogame or anything like that. I completely forgot what it was, but at posted it then deleted it right after

I pulled at the usual hang out spot at Our Ladys. SCHOOL, THAT BLUE CIRCLE WITH THE TREE IN THE MIDDLE. And I saw jer beautiful smile Im I even forgot what we talked about. We were in a group discussing but I only cared about what she had to say. Then we started walking towards 6s classroom. While we talked, she held my hand and I loved that she did, but I didn't want to get embarrassed since I told people that I was dating someone else. After discussing the previous topic, I asked her how she was, then we walked up the stairs. People including little children from the school talked and stared. And apparently, I had a social media presence in the dream and there were lots of hate comments about her. Like one was that they miss my "ex" or the other one was better or something. At times she walked way ahead of me because I couldn't keep up since I was so excited about the situation. I never expected to see her. That smooth, cocoa butter skin and bright smile did something to me.

Renyeisha Bank. I had a dream that I became a lab partner (Engineering or CS) with this girl that reminded me of Tylesha from QC, kinda stuck up, having stuck up friends, bit she wanted me. I did all the work as well, and she kinda figured out what we were supposed to do at the end, but I had to do it. On her miniature laptop. I was trying not to ruin it since its back always fell out, so I had to prop it up with a bottle or some small plasrtic water bottles. She had this friend that I probably saw in real life who either went to SAC or QC that looked at me like I was lace whenever I was clumsy trying to prop up her laptop, same with the lab partner. Also I think we were kinda dating as well for some reason. Also, randomly, Daishanell reminded us that it was 2:25 or something but we had to be in class by 2:40 so we weren't stressed. I was like "Easy" then she copied me. Also, Teneil came out of nowhere and picked up on of my lab partner's stray light brown orange ish hair strands on the table where all her stuff was and flinged it on me, assuming it was mine. But then I assured her it wasn't mine. My lab partner wore her hair in a bun but her bun part was real curly like a puff, and it was dark brown with light brown orange ish highlights.

I texted Tileah and Maia like I would text Sasha. Obviously Tileah was sarcastic in her jokes and she joked about proposing to me lol. She even was in Halifax. We were just messaging back and forth while playing a game irl similar to one of the Mario games. With Maia, it was more of just making jokes and laughing about what happened in the past kinda. But I enjoyed talking to Tileah more.

Sasha was watching me play soccer scrimmage with a few ppl from Aquinas soccer team like Morgan, Andrew and I think Koen and a few others. I always used to look at where she was at just to make sure she was watching when I was scoring countless goals. We were at the beach earlier and I was portrayed as a girl with a beeeeg bongie who wore some small underwear and it was clearly showing under her top. It was viewed as indecent and instead you had to wear under garments that fully covered your hips as a girl. That wibe was bouncing, but I got away with it. All I remember from the beach was niggas wearing t shirt in the water and Morgan throwing Megan in the water.

Dreamt that i was tagging along with a female group who wore black and white shirts alternating between each other. I wore white and Sasha was there and wore white too. We were trapped in a vault thing that had lava at the bottom by some evil people, most likely some evil teachers. But we escaped by opening the vault door from the inside by manipulating the door gears through small crevices in the door and twisting it open. We had to crawl through vents to escape. We were in this weird facility, saw some children that wanted selfish and wanted us to play a game with them since we were somewhat famous for some reason. Then the vents lead to a staircase where we eventually exited through the ground floor doors. I looked around and noticed we were outside of a mall that had Kelly's in it. I went in but changed my mind and went out because the others were going in the opposite direction. This old witch like teacher confronted me and asked why I went in the mall and immediately went out. I told her that I had changed my mind. Then we approached this school that looked similar to Our Lady's but we were on the side where grade 3 usually was. Sasha was looking for me and asked what number I wore at the back of my shirt. I told her I had the number 8. For some reason in the dream, she could not recognize me from my face, which should make sense. Maybe I was a different person or something.. Anyway, I was beneath the railings to the class and hopped over when she confirmed it was me. Then I hugged her. Then I remembered.ber checking instagram seeing that she posted me with us hugging, me sitting down and her in my lap. But somehow, her face was a totally different person, not even sure if it was her at all. The caption said something similar to, "It's my brother's! Joining his 33 people.", then in the comments she commented a few things. One was along the lines of "...LOVE YOUUUU."

I was waiting on my ride in school. Jerome, Andrew and maybe Gabby and Jodi was there and I was talking to Jerome and Andrew I think. Also, that girl from ig Samyka was there. Then a few seconds after conversation, my daddy pull up but with somebody else car, but he wasn't in the car and he was just standing on the white rocks in front of Aquinas' layover with lil Marcus and Eden on the side of him. Eden caught a ride with the other person's car and it was just lil Marcus and daddy stood alone in the parking lot. I hopped down there quickly, but I was met with the awkward situation where we just stood there with no car to go home. Then I made the decision to go back to talk to Jerome them until the car reach. Then all of a sudden daddy turned into Uncle Marcus with lil Marcus, riding one of them wide motor vehicles they ride on in a safari, but it was roofless. As soon as I saw them driving off with it, I started running mid conversation and somehow caught up with them. Then we just rode on Gladstone road. Samyka somehow recorded me running and riding on the vehicle and posted it on her ig story talking about how it was cute or something along the lines. And I think it was somebody's @, might have been mine but I wasn't sure. Then I kept trying to find ways to respond to her story and kept coming up with many different scenarios.

I was on a whatsapp video call with alumni from Aquinas that were in my grade level. Some even left before graduation, like Stephanie. It was like a million video screens and people too. And it was this random guy I never met who looked a bit older than us who moderated the call I suppose. He really prompted us to turn our video on for "attendance."

Had a dream that I was Jay z rapping on a song with Rea and we got in depth and personal about her ex and how she went back to him, and the stuff she did with him, and it hurt my feelings. It was like I was about to cry on the beat. At least, I think it was a song. It was also an argument. But eventually, we cooled off our temper and just accepted what was in front of us; each other. Then it came to its faded conclusion.

Milk wanted to hook up in the bathroom. Surprisingly I did not cave and I don't know why that happened. I also had a dream where it felt similar to talking to my God parents but it wasn't at the same time. It felt like I was comfortable around these people because I leaned my shoulder on the lady and I also had a conversation with the man. We also ordered Subway for some reason or something.

Dreamt that I was at a school in a computer lab with a bunch of needs. Turns out that my best friend supposedly was a guy who acted like Shariq from Tech but looked like a blonde white guy of some sort. I was trying to flirt with a fine girl I met there, and I thought I saw her before in real life, but I can't remember what her name was. We were hitting it off, I was making her smile and things were cool. She acted similar to Maia from Tech. My "best friend" came and interrupted the process though, greeting me with very weird nerd language, and it seemed like she was shying away because of it. I asked her for her Instagram and she said something along the lines of ag415 or gia415 or ga415, or it could have been her first name with 415 at the end. I completely forgot. Then when my best friend left, I tried to say some more things to her, but she ignored me and continued playing her computer game that everyone in this room were obsessed with. Then I sat down with my "best friend" and I can't quite remember what else happened.

It was similar dream to the first one. I remember now. It was like if you see someone pulling up to your place, then you ask them if they're coming home, they get mad unless you show them your socks and pajamas, confirming that you ain't sleeping around with anyone. I did that when my father pulled up with mommy or something. It was very strange because if you were caught naked, you were in trouble. I remember it was times in the dream before this one that I was talking to this cute, skinny, light-skinned girl with curly hair and I would tell her about my semi then she would be about to give me head. But this time my wife was out in the open, then my father came up and caught me trying to hook up with the girl, then I woke up. The girl was the same girl from Dream 40, I know for a fact now. I don't know who she looks similar to. Maybe that light-skinned girl from Oak Season 5, Trinity mixed with someone else. In the first dream, it was something similar that happened to this but I didn't remember. It happened again, but in the extreme. Me and my boy was with these two freaky girls who was trying to get freaky with us. My boy was black, but I don't know who he was. They persuaded us to get in a compromising position with our bellies on the floor, butt naked. Then, they wanted to use this tool the "circumcise" us. I was like, huhhh? Then extra skin came off, and we were freaking out. One of them were making fun of me because my wife was too long or something, it was weird.

Children waited on a line, wearing different colored shorts like they were in houses like how our lady's was set up. We set up a line that was in a convenience store that went out ever so slightly in the main entrance. There was this girl wearing a green shirt that always misbehaved and was getting on the teacher's nerve. I was one of the children I think and the punishment was to expose your chest and it was very inappropriate since customers were entering and exiting while this was happening.

Then, I was with a few people at a dock that looked similar to Arawak Cay, like family island house type vibes. I think Morgan was there and a few others. Then we ended up going underwater and finding this tall, long section of random things apart of this one mass. Some activities were at the top like wrapping coins into their respective wrapping paper to maybe earn prizes. There may have been a possibility that the children were there underwater with us as well. Some of the children looked a bit older and near our age in their faces. Also, the whole mass underwater was surrounded by different species of fish, sometimes sharks and other large killer fish. There were many different times I died and was swallowed by one.

Also, I was a different character who was darker, skinnier, and looked like your average Bahamian in the Grove. He was at the convenience store purchasing some beef of some sort in a cardboard box with plastic display at the top. He was conversing with the cashier trying to persuade her to lower the price. He also asked for some hot sauce on the beef as well. Then, the cashier proceeded to try and convince him to buy something else, fingerings her way through some biscuit snacks and other miscellaneous. It was to no avail.

A group of teenagers and young adults were chilling somewhere, not sure where. Maybe at a summer camp or a high school. Anyway, demonic beings were trying to take control of them, and started demanding them to switch out their body parts to accomplish certain feats. Eventually, they took these two best friends, one male, one female, who were being shipped by their other friends, and replaced their brain and probably other vital organs with the equivalents of alien anatomy, turning their blood from red to blue. In the bathroom where they may have been unconscious, there were red stuff on one of the bathroom stall doors, and blue stuff on the other. In order to distract other people from finding out what was happening, they opened the stalls so the colored things would not show, got naked and faked having sex, and even made fake noises for it to be convincing. Then the principal ended up walking in, and... they got in trouble. I think they feared getting caught being test subjects of possessing alien anatomy in their bodies because the demonic beings were going to put them in danger.

After that, I was with my sister in this park area/ wilderness type thing with random crowds of people everywhere just walking around or having something planned to do like a rehearsal. My sister and I just did our normal things we do at the park; walking around and being on our phone. Somehow, when we reached back home, I had to babysit a woman's daughters who all were not older than 10 years old. I had 2 phones and convinced myself that I had received messages but my phone was very dry, so I turned my WiFi off like I normally did. Anyway, with the kids, one was fat, and another took karate and was trying to fight me since I removed my bed sheets. I removed my bed sheets since all 4 of them were just on it, plus I hadn't washed it in a while. I matched the karate girl's attacks by only using one hand to defend myself. All she was doing was slapping it and holding it, and my hand started doing actual karate motions in order to defend myself.

Then at one point, I had to call out an actress from some random scenario, and I had no idea who I called out and I don't remember what for. She rode a motorcycle, and the people who were trying to reach out to her rode beside her in order to talk to her. They were both laughing because it was me or something, I really don't know why.

Yet another computer exam from a teacher I've never met in my life. And yet another I have failed. I couldn't focus during that exam at all. I think I took it a bit too serious shrugging people off because they were cheating. We also had to examine many different sports players, more than likely soccer since Cristiano Ronaldo was there, along with some YouTube that normally didn't play soccer but were playing it at the time. After the exam, the teacher was so convinced we were on our best behavior even though they made noise throughout. Koen, Jerome, Andrew, Elshanti and Daishanell were there. Daishanell complained saying, "I don't like exams like thiiiis!" But I agree. We had to answer questions about the environment in computer class for some reason and it was all short answer, no multiple choice.

Erica is cool and true to herself and she deserved not to be eliminated. She was a lesbian but she was down to Earth and I liked talking with her. Me and Erica were apart of this virtual reality type thing where there were people from Aquinas there, riding around in the school bus with Mr. Knight. We were getting ready to go to an isolated location that looked like a laboratory from the outside, but once you went inside, it looked like a futuristic classroom, where we were about to take an exam, but it started at 3:00. Whenever I thought we were about to start, the clock always went back a few minutes. Erica, a fictional character, was short, skinny with short black hair, and the complexion of Sammie from the Circle. There were also people from Aquinas.

At one point, we were doing a bunch of dance and other movement activities, but they were done in a field way before we reached this "laboratory" location. At one point, my partner was Adrianna, then my other partner was Gabby. Gabby was so goofy and funny, being herself when we did these ridiculous dances side to side. Whenever we would switch movements from one to the next, back to the original she would be like "On. Off. On. Off" whenever we switched and she would have a little giggle in between because she knew how ridiculous it was. Come to think about it, my first dance partner was Janelle Ferguson and I had to use my left hand to twirl her while going from right to left. It was kinda awkward but it was a lil funny, and Janelle was quite herself there, but had reminded me ever so slightly of Teliah for some reason.

Then, near the site of the laboratory, this kid was chasing me or something because he was mad for something.

Vano was there following the situation along with other people from the school like Nakia, Roboneke, Tristan, Morgan, all of them who weren't in our class and probably some from my class. The kid was getting annoying, so I decided to hold L2 then fly up. If I held X then I wouldn't fly up as quickly. Then when the kid tried to grab onto my leg as I went, I went higher. He then started to fly up as well, figuring out how to do it. But, he reached space and escaped the atmosphere, while I stayed clear of that. The teachers/supervisors were aware of this and were acting so calmly about the kid's demise and they seemed like they wanted to cover it up. Then after that, I went to the exam room again where we were about to have a Spanish exam i think, and I tried cramming but I wasn't prepared. Then the last time I returned to the classroom, the clock said 2:42 and I was with Erica. She acted slightly like Amaya. Then I woke up.

Had a dream where I was in this mall like school where it was as if it was university but I had a love interest. She was light skin and somewhat brown, short and skinny and had a pretty face. I think I talked to her before when we rode this bus that operated as a train but it floated over the track instead. I think her friends might have set us up or something or have talked to us before. I think the love interest was similar to Savannah from the Circle show but much younger. We had to carry this starter pack thing that we had to carry as we were kids in school but we worked for this organization. I think either I was done with work or the love interest was, so either me or her "cheated" and put a fake kit in the reserved ones and kinda left ours because we were done work. It was like a backpack but with a cartoon smiley face on it. One of the administrators caught on and saw that the smile on the kit was off and knew it was fake, but she didn't catch on to who exactly. This happened all before we arrived at the school or our destination at the time. When we arrived, the girls discussed the love interest situation and one of them acted like T'Ajha trying to set me up and gave me some instructions to follow but I ignored all of them. I saw my love interest going down a staircase in the school which then opened up into this huge mall-like school. She knew I was following her and upped her walking pace just a little. So, it felt like I chased her. So, I switched my course and headed for the bathroom instead where it was a bunch of kids who did like man. The bathroom was structured so weirdly. I think I saw Andrew before I went in there and we had a funny yet strange conversation. Then I dream peed but it was fake peeing. Then I got out of the bathroom and was looking for my classes but I had no idea where to go since the school was so big and I never had a tour. I found a girl or some friend who I just talked to to pass the time while I was looking. My love interest might have looked like kimfloss as well maybe.

There was a fun day for Aquinas where we could've dressed up in this huge hotel room that was supposed to hold our entire grade. Across the halls and on different floors were different schools. Basically, we held a party. At first I had my own room where I listened to music and was jumping up and down dancing, then a beautiful girl from another school who was brown with straight long hair came to our front door and rowed me out with such an attitude. Then just dipped. Then everybody including Ricardo and Donovan just looked at me trying not to laugh lol. Then the whole grade came into one huge room that had bleachers to hold all of us and we were just talking very loudly and I wanted to warn everyone so we wouldn't get into trouble. Then as they were trying to settle people down, the girl came back. Then Mrs. Knowles showed up to tell us off. And whoever didn't have a change of uniform and didn't change back into it were in trouble and had to be left behind. Then at was walking down to the exit, I forgot my orange school bag so I had to go back up the stairs of the bleachers so that I could get to the other side of the bleachers where my bag was. Then this girl Lauren who wanted to chat me up from high school time came from her seat and started flirting with me ever so slightly. She didn't have much game lol but I just allowed her to follow all the way to the door. She said things like "... by the end of the night, your number gonna be in my phone..." Then I ignored her after she said that. Then, Jerome saved me by pulling up and making conversation so I could escape, then she noticed and looked kinda put off, but was determined. She said another line but laughed midway because she knew how ridiculous it was. Then I told her "Hey, we'll get to that another time / later." Then Jerome looked at me funny and face twisted. Then I turned around and it was Ashley and Jenay, then I just smiled at them so it wouldn't be awkward. Then as soon as Lauren walked through the exit in front of us, I broke the silence saying "I'm calling her back lol" then I think Jerome dap me up and we laughed it off.

We went down a staircase where I just skipped floors ahead by jumping down to another level just to get to the ground floor quicker. Then there were people from Tech like Arthur and that other QC nigga who used to blast music. Then there was this rock nigga who had rock powers, who looked like the hulk but was covered with rock instead, who tried to punch all of us at once, following us around but it was like a game in rounds to see who could dodge all his punches. Then, it was a rival power that had the name of the rock nigga, basically similar types of powers that opposed each other where the other power neutralizes the rock nigga punches and you can dodge easily.

So, there was this girl, let's call her Amanda, who was adopted by this family of twins, a boy and a girl named Grace and Grayson, and another sister named Sam (All were white i think. Amanda may have been mixed but with their hair). Their caretaker was this old lady who I think was their foster mother? Not sure but their connection probably wasn't the strongest considering they didn't catch feelings when she died. Turns out, there's this treasure that Amanda knew about before she came in the home that involves the old lady somehow, and the use of her skull could solve the treasure problem. (Might be the same treasure in a previous dream) Grace was a lesbian and was so convinced Amanda loved her and had secret feelings for her. Also, i failed to mention that they also had a little brother who was half their age named Jimmy. "A twin who doesn't confess their love? What is she doing?" said Grace. The girl she talks about is Amanda who shakes Grayson's hand, calling a new beginning of trust and comradery with solving the treasure problem with the old lady's skull. "If I was your twin, I would totally have sex with you. You're hot," says Jimmy, funnily enough. You may be confused as to why she refers to "twin" but she's a lesbian. Well, they have an inside joke where they said that Amanda and Grace look very similar, so Grace started calling her "twin".

Earlier, discussed was the use of the old lady's skull within the treasure. That is because I think it was she who is responsible for the treasure, but it is cursed treasure. There was this scene depicting two horse brothers that were really close in the news, but one of the brothers got close to the other and started biting his head off by the sea, right in front of his own child, killing him in a heap of left over leather skin, blood and organs. I think it might have alluded to the scene where the kids of the foster family killed the old lady taking care of them. What was the cause? Well, there are a few possibilities. The old lady found out about the treasure and started telling them off and putting their life in danger. The kids knew they had to use the old lady's skull in order to go on further in the treasure discovery. The kids just wanted to kill her because of the torture she put them through from working without pay from child labor and always tormenting them with stuff similar to "Pain is only pain if you allow yourself to feel it." I know for sure Amanda wasn't the one dealing the hits. Amanda mocked the old lady's saying by yelling out "I bet you can feel that!" as someone else deals the blows. I would rule out Jimmy as well because I doubt he possesses the ability to crack an old lady's skull with a baseball bat. It might have been Grayson or Sam. This murder scene happens before Amanda shakes Grayson's hand and Grace being confused about Amanda's "love" towards her. When in reality, Amanda liked Grayson but sorta friendzones him after the incident. Maybe because he dealt the blows to the old lady's face?

This was all from a dream that I am currently interpreting, minutes after waking up by the way.

Along with this dream, I remember being in the car with my family, heading home to our Pinewood home. It was night time and I was so certain that daddy passed the house but I was so unfamiliar with my surroundings, that I was wrong. Then we finally pulled up in the yard. It was so strange. I think it's because for us, our surroundings seemed like they have been damaged. Like the trees were just rubble and the grass and weeds just seemed to be spread apart, kinda like a major hurricane hit. So much so, I didn't recognize anything. However, our house was still intact.

I am the song of a female rock singer and this other famous dude. But my sister is still Stazzie who had rectangular dildos in her room. My "mother" was getting a car for me which I thought cost like $100,000 or less. The car had a creamy interior that looked like rich was written all over it. Then the mother got into an accident with it, a bad one where we thought she would die. Her mouth was stolen and she was injured among a few other things. Then the next morning, she was alright, looking as vibrant and youthful as ever. Turns out, she bought the car for $100,000,000 and the people on the news reporting the accident claimed that the car is worth $1 billion ðŸ'€¸. So there's that.

I'm on a bus going to the airport/ train station with a class who is about to take an important test. Dominique was there but I flew right past her. I was actually flying, more like gliding on the air, as everyone went down an escalator into a waiting room designed by chairs. Your seat is your place in the line to proceed. I sabotaged Cody Malcolm, one of the smartest in the class, so that I had more chance of winning. His final exam/ project was sabotaged, making him very likely to fail. I sabotaged him as Kanye, and went about doing my performance for the exam by using a fridge full of soda, emptying it out with my muscular Kanye arms he used to lift weights at Mercedes Benz stadium, then I performed right in the middle of the fridge, using the cup holsters as my surroundings, flipping them around like those things on pinball machines. I think I got a good grade, and no one suspected me. I was also Earl Sweatshirt at one point in a different realm, trying to fight this dragon/ creature but we fought for ages, and I was getting nowhere and I was very trash. Then everyone around the world was complaining that Earl was trash.

I FaceTime Tyler as myself and he was wearing a gamer headset similar to my turtle beach ones back home, but I was wearing it then and there as well. He was on this set of a comedy show or something called Funny Smile. This cute mixed girl on the set asked me "Hey, how's your acne?" Then the dream started fading away, and I answered in real life since I felt my voice box vibrate, and my voice in the dream was nowhere near as deep as irl. They asked me another question and I forgot what it was. A gay guy said once he got in trouble with his parents before because his first boyfriend was named Hassani or something. Idek.

I was in a prison looking for treasure. Next thing ik I was being chased by a giant crab through a storage facility. Then I ended up on a soccer field hub. Then Koen Andrew and Jerome was there. I met some tall dudes who were supposed to be famous voice actors or something who told me that we should watch an episode sometime. Then they started playing a soccer game and as usual I analyzed it and had comments about how they played. I also was looking for my cleats and didnt have them. All I had was my school shoes Clark's. Then me and Koen them walked away, somehow we ended up in a grocery store. I urged Koen them to not buy chocolate or anything sweet, but I got mint candy and pancakes with holes in them anyway. Then these women came out of nowhere talking about pancakes and who they belonged to and there were girls that I knew were in peoples trollies bending over in the shape of the pancake then I really tried to be strong. But I woke up. Also there was a point where I thought Milk was referring to me when she called out for something but she was referring to Amp.

I was in this bedroom with 2 girls. I think one of them was my "sister" then the other was her best friend or something. There were also two of us boys with them. The best friend i think was lightskin, short and petit. We were discussing random things, then the best friend asked for our sizes, so I told her. Then we took off our bottoms, and I put my tip on her wibes and asked her to put it in for me. I think she was older, and knew that I was a virgin. Then it went all the way in, and she was on top of me going up and down. While doing this, we had a random conversation like it was a casual thing that I forgot what it was about. Then I started to get into it by thrusting and holding her waist. Then I asked her for a kiss, we stopped thrusting and she leaned in while on top of me. Then I got tired of our position and started kissing her again and turning her over. Now I was on top, and we continued kissing. Then I slipped her top off and started feeling her small breasts and kissing her again. I wanted to do a position I saw before while I was on top. All of this is being done while my "sister" is in the room by the way. Then, my real sister, Stazzie, came home and the girls had to hide and put clothes on and fix up the bedroom, but I was too late, putting my shirt on, so I had to act like it was hot, but at first Stazzie wasn't buying it. Then the thermostat said 133 degrees, so that was convenient. Then me, the girls and some other random ppl went outside and we were playing games trying to hit each other with projectiles, but the side of the house was ruined as if it was made out of a bouncing castle material, and all the wires were exposed afterwards.

Had a dream that we were in a class and Gabby remixed a song from 1995 or something with some random tunes she made by putting them in a square of 4 squares, where the song from 1995 was on the bottom left square. But the squares were desks in the classroom. Then it played a few times. Then I was in the same "seat" as Jodi where we could both move around at the same time. Then everyone in the class started moving their seats up while sat in it to the front. But then Jodi completely jumped the gun and put so much force on it that I wasn't prepared for when the seat traveled such a distance.

First, there was a dream where Brittany from Twitter, Morgan, Ricardo and other people were there, where we ran across a track to have a race, and I kept winning. Then we decided to run through a longer distanced terrain which went from grass and rock to dirt then to sand like a desert kinda. I was so fast, still. But I ended up wearing just a t shirt and then the lower half of my body was exposed, but it was too late to notice. Then Rolando started liking man and putting his sweaty, dream-exaggerated belly up against my back, and I was disgusted.

I was on this different planet and came from Earth to pursue new life, since our game where we had to hit the soccer ball on the cross bar (There were 3 goals and 3 teams), then past the goal line to score a point, turned into a robotic malfunction of this little girl that my father programmed from this weird alien looking device that kept shifting its table, which meant that it was quite unstable. Then he decides, since the little girl isn't working (didn't know how to score a point), we dressed in essentially all white with a hint of grey and traveled to this planet(or a different part of our current planet). My sister wore grayish shoes and all white and I wore white shoes, white socks, light grey joggers and a grey hoodie. Then on the planet we were on this island camp (it was a chain of islands) where there was a mix of young children and older teenagers and young adults. Some girls were fully naked with some very big and curvy figures to the point where they discussed sex and other things. Then I may or may not have turned into the 13/14 year old version of myself (from maritime camp), chubby wearing camo shorts and a T-shirt. Other camp members included someone similar to Alicia who discussed that same topic and how she was going to behave while at the same time staying so close to me and rubbing her leg on my lap, which had no effect on me. There was this instructor who looked like my maritime instructor from that camp back in 2016. We were waiting on a ship to set sail. In the dream, I decided to pay the girls no mind and ignored them in their advances.

And "Thats why I love you nigga". The celeb was so butthurt that he bad mouthed me and was so arrogant. It seemed like there were school children around and we were at a school event. Some were teens and some were people I graduated with. All of a sudden, there was this one kid who stole a belonging of the celeb and ran around with it. Later, we caught him and called Mr. Soncaire. And he disciplined him, then carried him away by putting him in a movable sewer tank, covered with those circular covers they have in cities, put the cover on top of his head, then dented it so he could simultaneously be underneath and move around. Then everyone laughed as they passed and were royally amused.

She had long hair and acted as if she was my friend. We had conversation, then it was at one point I almost slipped off of the boat dramatically, and she saved me by holding my arm up. However, I was disoriented by my overly stretched arm. Then, I began to utter compliments to her. The first one was "You fine." Then, she began to acknowledge my words. At first, she only recognized me as a classmate in the friend zone. Then, we arrived at this place, almost like a hotel. We were in the bedroom, and I apparently was drunk from all the alcohol she sneaked in the room. Then, I, disoriented again, tripped over my words but managed to utter to her "Damn, you fine asf" Then, her eyes began to grow, her facial expression surprised and there was a certain stillness, only for a moment. All of a sudden, I'm on top of her, kissing her, then she grabbed onto my groin and then...

I couldn't move. I was held into place. My mouth was slightly open as I was in the motion of kissing. My arms and legs began to feel squeezed and restrained as I was suspended in this room that appeared as if it was bright with grayish features, but I felt very, very dark. Then, I imagined myself finishing what I started in the dream. At the same time, I struggled to free myself. Then, all of a sudden, bubbles began to fill my mouth, and there was a slight restrain on my neck and head, as if I was having a seizure. I tried to utter words to alert to my sister that I was in danger.

It was like I was the Naruto of the story, and I was say next to a "rival" like he was disrespectful and mean to others. Andrew was there. Then he notioned me to run, since the soldiers initiated their attack to all of us from behind, having vicious dogs chase us and whatnot. Then in front of us, rats, yes.. rats, were using dogs to attack us as well, so we were sorta surrounded. A few got caught in the heat, but eventually, each soldier was shot and stabilized. They weren't dead because they had special technology that protected them, but they were downed for the time being.

I was naked at Stazzie's house and, ran out of underwear, almost got caught naked by Stazzie, then she showed me the way to the underwear but I still couldn't find it. Then Paige showed up at the house where other people were hanging up clothes from the ceiling. Then all of a sudden, me and Rea are walking together in this very sunny climate, no clouds in the sky. There's crowds of people surrounding us where we go on this golf cart to reach our destination. Then I'm at home, laying in bed, naked again and my father, mother and other family members are there. Then my mother asks me about my special someone. "Where is she from?" Then I said Botswana. Then she looked around at everyone kinda confused and almost cynical. Then she asked me again. Then I answered the same. Then it was almost laughter from everyone. They mocked me essentially. Even my father said his remarks. Then came in Rea, with this lightskin guy who claims to be her boyfriend. Then I made up a lie that I knew she was like this, so at the beginning part of their relationship, I had sex with her then "forgot about her". Then, it seemed the more I talked about the lie, the more Rea flirted with her boyfriend, feeling his penis through his genes and smiling.

I dreamt that we actually visited Rea's apartment. We went through the entrance and Rea immediately was there but walked right past me and Vano and a few others who already went through the elevator. Then she was at the entrance and I had to tell her that we walked past each other and she smiled as if she was so oblivious. Then she directed us to go through the other side of the elevator where the room was. Their door opened by first peeling like a sticker, then opening the normal way, and I was taken aback. It was me, my parents, friends, cousins who I never saw in my life and just random. Then for the majority of the time, I was in the bathroom trying to change my clothes. I ended up with a lot of my close in a heap of mess, while they discussed whatever was going on in Rea's current relationship. Then I have up cuz I knew it was a dream, and just walked out without the clothes and told them good luck with the relationship as the dream faded away. Then, out the window somehow, I grabbed an automatic and shot their heads off cuz it didn't matter. The End

I was a bright kid on a cruises hip where we trained to protect our country through technology. I was well off as I possessed many abilities like gravity stability in mid air when on a flotation device in air while the cruise ship was airborne. All the children on it sat in it like it was bleachers in a soccer game. We eventually hit the ocean and were arriving to our homeland. The flotation device turned into a hoverboard like device where I perfectly ride into the docking station with. Ofcourse, adults and our supervisors were on standby, invisible to clean up any mishaps. Some kids were jealous of my talent for sure.

Mandi - bath (indonesian)

Halal - permissible (arabic)
Valvo - valve/tube (spanish)

The motion of me stepping over this girl in uniforms calf that was stretched out as I walked by as a form of flirting. I stepped over then lightly tapped her leg with a backheel kick.

I also remember being invited into Rea's apartment when her boyfriend wasn't there, but the apartment was more like a full fledged apartment with many bedrooms and whatnot. Me and Rea made jokes, and I think I met their daughter, but their daughter I think was disabled, I think she might have had down syndrome which is unfortunate, but she still was full of energy. She even used to have a hoop on one of the walls and played a game of how many tiny rocks she could get in the hoop. Keep in mind, the hoop was almost all the way at the ceiling on the wall. But it seemed like almost everytime she took a shot, it went in. And I was so surprised. My stay was very interesting, because her boyfriend came over and I had to hide, but then afterwards, me and Rea hung out even more and got kinda closer.

Then I had a next dream where I was on a bus to go home with a few people I knew from high school and other random people. Phaedra had a stop and I motioned to her that my stop was almost after hers, so I decided to get off at the same time. But I didn't know I would have to walk for a long period of time because I was lost and didn't know where to go. Plus we were in the Grove, at a church where all the children in the ghetto hung out. Somehow, Jodi was there as well talking with her friends but I was completely lost and scared of my surroundings.

Gabby was like my right hand in this dream. We always got along and we would imitate each other and flirt. We had a lot of chemistry. When we got into class she would tell me "Hey handsome" then tapped onto the seat next to her to sit. Then she somehow now sat opposite me in this 4 square seating arrangement where she faced me. Phaedra and Jodi were there. We somehow had to find masks to leave which meant that we were in a pandemic. Also, we had an after-school class where we had hurricane homework, where we had to remember what we did previously in an assignment or study but I couldn't remember. Then we had to carry berries, or limes or lemons in a certain order in a basket to these people that stood atop the water like ninja from Naruto. For example of there were 100 ninja on the water side by side and your number was 98, you had to bring it to number 98. Then there were lines of ppl in front of each ninja as I ran across the water to find mine. I ended up eating all my berries and limes and failed the assignment and had to try again.

Keturah appeared in my dream where I was at Aquinas trying to clean something with soap. I saw her walking with other people hearing the way she talked and she took a very quick glance at me then turned back. I was also in a class full of females. Mrs. Bain was the homeroom teacher, we didn't even say a prayer. And she ended up in my homeroom in the last 5 minutes but we never talked. Lechea was there, Adrianna, I think it was Jodi and couple other females I don't remember. Then we walked out because the bell rung, then I couldn't walk properly, then after that it was a blur.

I was at this convention where there were a lot of schools attending, and it seemed like each school had their own bleachers across the street from where we were. I was with Aunty Jazz, Alex and Stazzie under a tent with some randoms. I saw a couple cute girls across the street, so I decided to cross. Mr. Dorsett apparently was the crossing guard and there were a bunch of kids crossing as well. I tried pinpointing a fine girl to approach but I kinda lost where I was going and ended up just shying away and giving up. So I just sat down in a random bleacher. But then, a dead fine gal with a big bounge walked up to me and was about to say sumn but shied away. So, I then go after her and asked her what's up. She wore some bright lime green outfit, was darkskin had a one of them pretty cheeky faces and had red eyes kinda like the sharingan. I complimented her trying to pick her up and she was still shy. Then I told her to come with me. We started walking in this one direction that lead to the bathrooms. She talked to her friend while we were on the way there and she told her friend to shut up because she about to suck me off, so I was like "Oh." Then she started doing it, but after that it was a blur. Then we got into some trouble I think regarding something with her school principal, so she was punished and had to do homeroom duty all by herself, but homeroom duty included an entire bathroom along with it. Conveniently, her father came there, but helped out in the cleaning. This girl wasn't nearly as incompetent as her father. He did tasks very weirdly and was getting on my nerves.

We were playing something similar to Squid Game where if we couldn't pull something off, we would get shot. However, we would only use health instead of dying straight away. So the more we messed up, the more we were in danger. And I think our teacher was a nice teacher but she turned evil mid game for some reason. I was playing the game with Andrew and a few randoms, where we played next to this random wall in a grass field, and we had to put our bags down as well. It seemed like Andrew took a toll from all of the times he got shot. Then I began to feel some effects. It seemed like the strangers were prevailing in the game. Then lightning struck about a thousand times (T'Ajha pointed it out), and we took that very seriously, as a sign to stop playing and go home. Then everyone fled, trying to find their belongings. I struggled finding my bags as well. Then I remember magically becoming Brittany, someone's girlfriend, then she kissed this random dude's neck who had a girlfriend which was very weird.

Dream_Dream 62_211126_085709.txt

Brittany literally shook my penis on soft from side to side but out of view tryna look at the structures and statues she got past with her ping pong ball. She was in a competition where she had to get past all these obstacles, sometimes around rooms, up stairs by the railing or like a corner of the wall to earn a grand prize. She was wearing heals, a tight dress and make up. While revelling at one if the colored statues of the inseam of the woman's leg, I kept feeling my penis being shaken side to side by her hand so aggressively while she casually says "Well, would you look at that?" Before this, I was in this random soccer exhibition where it was a bunch of kids and teens like Morgan or whoever, kicking at 2 goals at the same end. One was small in the middle like a regular goal with one goalkeeper, then the other was absolutely gigantic almost as tall as a four story building, that went over the regular one that only had one goalkeeper on a given side. The kids always aimed high to the roof of the net just to score. Then, it was one time where we were competing with the ping pong ball thing like the Bri situation, but up the goal from the goal line to the cross bar, but in these weird structures that popped up outta nowhere like a videogame that looked like beige ceramic or quartz. Then it lead to the Bri situation, where we were in a different setting. A building filled with colorful statues and structures while her other friends dressed up basically the same way she was, and she jacked me off.

We were at Jordan Prince Will, but the school looked much different like the buildings fully surrounded you in the school yard like it was a court yard, or prison. Ianthe and those other ppl were there, along with a many people from Aquinas like Jerome, Andrew, Koen, LeChea, Micah, and the PG gang. We were in a class where we had to write an essay with Ms. Watkins, then we were somehow in a class where we were playing Tic Tac Toe, but all of us were divided into 2 teams with a paper in each of our hands. It was confusing, but my team ended up winning, and Micah was on my team but Gabby wasn't. Then to rub salt into the wound, Micah went on to toy with Gabby.

Micah: Hey Gabby you could mark paper for me?

Gabby: Hmm you pretty but...

Micah: No because of my size...

Everybody buss out laughing.

Robina initiated conversation with me in a parking lot from her mom's car while I was in my father's. She asked me things like my hobbies and why I don't curse. It was so cute of her and how awkward she would get trying to find another question to ask. That moment felt like it was a sunny day and it was so bright and dreamy like a nostalgic trip down streets you used to see on your way to primary school. It was as if I was nervous in the dream to find another question to ask her as well, but I really wanted to and I was thinking about some but it was as if I couldn't say it. The most I told her was that I liked making beats and music and that I loved making videos but the dream began to fade away so rapidly. I really wanted to stay in the dream but I think it faded because daylight came to be. I think it may have been because the dream was way longer than that since it started off with me being at a Bahamian pop up shop or show where rusty adults talked about sex and other topics while some young teens were at the event maybe eating or drinking rum. The floors were so dirty so I volunteered to sweep them. It seemed like sweeping took a pretty long time. It was as if I was sweeping one of those government school floors. There was this man who always yelled out in detail what he would do to a lady when in the bedroom. "BACKSHOTS!! PLOW PLOW PLOW PLOW!!"

Then after I finished sweeping, I wanted to go home so I walked to the parking lot where I later found Robina. I really wanted to stay and talk with her since I don't really know her that well.

We played a game where we had to run through a course and collect as many different materials like sand, rock, like those random materials in minecraft. It first started off with just the Sideman doing a Moresidememen video where they were astronauts in the game, traveling through their spaceship like vehicle with wheels that could do tricks and would go on floating tracks where some were filled with materials. It was like a racing game basically. Then near the end it turned to whoever didn't make it to the last round had to become zombies and infect those who survived. Then these random children were there, along with Brittany and a few others apart of the game. Then all of a sudden it became real life like where we could actually die if we get infected or eaten. Then it was at one point in the game where there was a possibility you could cure the zombies, then you could run back to the finish line. Then we ended up winning by default.

I picked up Brittany by her butt to celebrate then she kissed me on my nose and I just got so turned on that I couldn't control myself anymore, then the demon made it seem like we were tongue kissing because my mouth was wide open with my tongue coming out. Also my penis was turning in circles at the same time so she probably was giving me a hand job while we were in that position. Then boom.

She turned from a nerd to one model dead quick. She was saying some dirty stuff to me and took her top off and I only saw her from her waist up until she grabbed my penis, started wagging it around and was rubbing it against her vagina which then came within my view. She did all of this while making constant eye contact with her nipples in my face. Then, you know the rest.

We were in this classroom that had different cozy places that were number from 1 to about 20. Those cozy spots had curtains to open it, and the number appeared on the furniture and the wall behind it. It was a couch or bed with cushions. The numbered spots could've been chosen by two people max. Koen and Andrew decided to take 9. Then, I wanted to be in one with Kiante but she already had one with her female friend who acted very masculine. So, I picked number 8. I liked Kiante a lot in this dream for some reason because I was fixated on her. Very weird. But we were in Linear Algebra and there were two sections and the teacher in our section didn't want students of the other section to study in his class for some reason. Yeah, that's about it lol

I had a dream about Sasha. We were in a group sanctioned event but there was one time she was by herself with a friend by some random benches. She was obviously hesitant to talk at first as I approached her, but I promised myself if I ever see her in person again, I'd tell her how I felt during those moments when I stopped talking to her. I said that I liked her and I had feelings for her. In the dream it seemed like she was flattered, since she couldn't stop smiling, and her friend egged on the idea. (The dream made it so she thought that I meant what I said in the present instead of meaning that I "liked" her in the past and I got hurt) But in the dream, it seemed like we were back to our usual selves and she was very friendly and welcoming. Then we started walking down the street where we had to head to some place in the group sanctioned event. The next thing I know, some live lava that was a faded orange color was oozing out of the ground and randomly spattering every couple seconds. It was hot, but Sasha somehow leaped over it and went ahead. However, I struggled to jump over and overthought it so much that I didn't even try.

I was tryna pick up girls at this random water park in a city and I harassed one of them and after that I actually stayed strong and convinced myself that there is no point to. One of them were like a different version of Dominique, probably younger or something. Then, we put our arms around each other for some reason walking and talking throughout the city. Then she randomly took her hand and started stabbing me with her nails on my right side with her other hand and I kept trying to move her but I couldn't. Then the same girls I tried to pick up before came back while I was with Dominique and I just ignored them.

There was also another dream in the same city I think where it was like a movie. A girl sees a boy much shorter than her try to talk to her, then she decides to turn away and start walking ahead trying to avoid him. All of this is happening in one continuous shot btw. Then the girl's male friend protects her or something and tries to scold her or the boy, now idk which one. Then it continued with a shot of random people dancing on a staircase to people skateboarding like they were side characters. There was also a very long sequence before this that was literally a movie where I complained about there being little development for the side characters. Come to think of it, it probably was a musical.

Then I had this annoying dream where I was in an American high-school in 10th grade where we were on a field trip in the same city. Apparently our class had many Norwegians in attendance for some reason. Also, we were at the city's border where there was the sea near and there was an annoying kid in class that made absolutely outrageous comments about people and random things. He also could manipulate the flesh of people and people's tissue and see through them or just straight up kill them. I called him out for being obnoxious. Then, he chased me around the entire city and it was like he never ran out of energy and he was so fast. I even felt fatigue after running for a while. Luckily, I realized that I had anti gravity powers or something where I could jump very high and go atop building roofs.

Come to think of it, I had a dream in the same city before the Dominique one where it was Jerome, Andrew and Koen and other people there and it was like we were in a game and we made our home the Central hall building that was the biggest building out of 5 that were floating high in the sky and were back to back sitting on green grass. There was also lava pits forming around us when we tried to escape some place next to the buildings to make it back there. When we did, I ended up falling from very very high and realized that I could float down slowly instead of plummeting to my death. Andrew could also do it. I think this led to the Dominique dream or the movie sequence. The dreams I had were like one after the other and now they seem like a maze. Also, a dream I had before all was with my father and 2 other policemen who were with me in a dark house reminiscent to mine back home and they were just there idk why. The light was probably off. I suspected something bad was gonna happen because dreams in dark places normally have a twist and I think it did. The 2 policemen ended up leaving and it might have been a killer or someone pull up in the front yard. I think my father and I were alone in the house and I think he tried to protect me. That's all I remember.

Had a girl confess her love for me then she straight up died after. Then they had some weird convention at this stadium where we were looking for some Asian people i never met before, at a stadium full of Asians. Then we tried to exit and these white people were in a room by the exit and didn't want us to escape without sprinkling some cocaine on our food. Then all of a sudden one white girl automatically gets attracted to me and jumped on me, then I carried her to our car where mommy, stazzie and daddy were. Then it was night and I sat down in a couch where she was on my lap laying down like a dog. Then i fingered her until she got wet, then I wanted to do the thing but I kept getting interrupted. Turns out the attraction thing is like a chip in their brain or something that can be shut off when the night is done and you have to pay for it to happen but it was a glitch where it was a "free trial" for me because the girl sprinkled cocaine and it might have triggered that chip in her brain. Looks like those white girls were futuristic prostitutes who remember nothing and give up their body for an entire night. So messed up.

Real Life:

This gal Fabrizia is so fine on IG, and we actually interacted a few times. I liked her story where she posted this sexy selfie. I was just mesmerized by it. Then I posted an answer to a Q and A question, and she liked that story... so I was like hmmm this could go somewhere. Then she made a post, I liked it, commented, then she liked the comment and replied with some goooooood energy. So I was like hmmmmmmmm I gotta make a move. Then she posted another story on IG, then I was straight up with her and I replied, saying that I think she looks so fire. Then she laughed with some good energy, said thank you, then I said you're welcome, thinking the convo would end there. THEN, SHE STARTED A NEXT CONVOOOO. SHE WAS INTERESTEDDDD. So I entertained the convo, tried making her laugh wherever possible. And bro, the vibes were immaculate. I complimented her, she complimented me, and the convo was just flowing. She was super nice and just seemed like great company. It seemed like it was too good to be true at one point because this gal is FINNEEEEEEEEE, and she wants to talk to MEE. I just thank God for that because this wouldn't have been possible without Him. The amount of jokes and flirting I pulled off was crazy, like this confidence had to have come from Him. Then, I GOT HER NUMBERRRR.

Real Dream:

Gal had a TikTok and was confessing a bunch of stuff, talking about her insomnia and how she stays up past 3AM. Then in the dream, I was texting her on IG, but it was a concept that I always messed up texts, either spelled it wrong, or let auto correct run wild. I even texted the wrong girl at one point, Tileah. Idk how she got in the dream but whatever.

I dreamt that as soon as I show up to an event where a lot of people at my high school were at, there was Gabby and a few other people. We were in a gymnasium, and I sat on the bleachers next to them. Then Gabby hailed me, smiled at me, then proceeded to sit on my lap, facing me. She was talking to me about how she wanted to be my girlfriend, and that I was good for her, even though I cheated on my ex, and I'm "like her ex" (in context of the dream, cuz I didnt actually IRL).

"There's just something about you," she said. Her ex was there and he cheated on her (A random buff black guy, along with his mom) and had similar mannerisms like me. We had a conversation, but she did most of the talking, trying to seduce me by moving around in my lap, but in all honesty, I wasn't feeling her, but I let it rock. She was cute, but the feelings were clearly not mutual. She played a game with me, testing if I had passion about who I was dating, giving me weird prompts like "Even when I'm starving, you would make me full" or some crap like that, where I had to finish that prompt. I said literally the first thing that came to mind. Then her ex was straight up cooking a meal with his mom in the kitchen. Then I remember my mommy was mixing a baked good in a bowl, submerged underground, while talking to me and Stazzie. Then she threw it away because a sewer pipe burst, causing poop particles to be in the air or something, which probably contaminated the mix.

I went to a church event and the people at the church were very nice and welcoming and I noticed the Pastor was nowhere in site. We had an in depth conversation. Then the Pastor shows up and days everyone up but me. I walk toward him to get that day, but he kept walking in the other direction, avoiding me, running to his wife and kids and laying on the couch in his blanket that he used that one time I was at his house. Then, I later confronted him, and he wanted to fight me. He told Hanum "Let me test out my right hook real quick". Then started to size me up and get argumentative. Then I told him that I didn't want to fight him. Then he said he was only matching my "character". Then I told him again, "I don't want to fight you". Then he asked me "What is your character?". Then I wept.

Luke 19:41. Jesus wept for the ppl of Jerusalem saying that you of all people are blind to peace and your enemies will encircle and stomp you into the ground along with all your children

John 11:35. Jesus wept for Lazarus, the man who he would raise from the dead. He was angry because people didn't believe in God's power.

Hebrews 5:7-9 Jesus cried tears for the one who could rescue him from death. According to God, Jesus is the source of eternal salvation for all who obey Him.

at. She gripped my hand and reprimanded me. She was cute but it was annoying she wouldn't let me pass. I told her to let me slide because I was with family but she still denied me. She secretly had a vendetta against me and everyone in our class back in primary school because apparently she was in our class, but I didn't remember her lol. They used to call her 92, like '92, but idk why. I ended up forcing my way through anyway, and made my own entrance like it was the front door of my parents' home back in Nassau. Then it was a weird transition to a dystopian, post apocalyptic scene where my family and I killed off monsters and evil people. Before I left 92 at the steps, I admitted to her who I killed before I even killed them or admitted to my family killing someone before it even happened. Then, after I left, it happened right before her eyes. It was almost like a beach front where it happened, but we stood on the grassy part that had palm trees.

the name normally has 2 ns, but hers had 1 n. then the instagram name had an underscore at the end.

she had some pink lips that had a line through her bottom lip. she looked kinda like tht one girl in the cafe who is the friend of the short light skin. she has like a dry light brown complexion if that makes sense, similar to Sasha's complexion. in fact, she reminded me of Sasha but her face looked nothing like her. she's skinny but slightly tall. I asked for her Instagram after I asked Kiante if I could pull her aside and talk to her because someone was trying to sabotage her. then we ended up in Mrs knowles' office with a bunch of ppl, including the person who was trying to sabotage: Jerome.

I never followed the girl on Instagram because I had my account disabled. Then apparently, she had someone record a video of her and send it to me saying that she was thinking about me because I didn't follow her then she gave me a step by step process to follow her because she thought I didn't understand because it had been 2 weeks, and she thought I ghosted her.

another factor could be that cafe lady who looks like she goes to the uni with that curly hair and brown skin but dark lips. she could've been her sister or sumn. idk lol tht just came to mind because she has a flirty personality I was back home which kinda changes the game, but it was unrecognizable. it was definitely on the island. me and a few others went to a small house parry where it was Khri's house where Goddy merce and Kirky had a big family portrait on the wall. I dapped up a couple ppl I didn't know (one if them was an influencer whose name began with L, i don't think it was Laycole but he was dark. maybe dre k but tht wouldn't make sense), and then Khri calling him a goat.

A lot of other stuff happened but it's too disturbing. All my Nigerian friends were there. I think we shared a quarters or something. I saw their bathroom and it was absolutely in shambles with all containers in there filled to the brim with water. Kia was there, and Jerome was there as well. We went to like an office area thing where Bahamian government stuff was giving out and there were long lines trying to get it. It was probably only a few minutes available. Koen and Elshanti managed to get it and were so happy but people started skipping me and I talked to a woman who acted sorta like Ms. Bain trying to reason with onlookers, my Nigerian friends. First the dumb woman was ignoring me then she slowly started to utter things back to me, then they closed and the whole crowd of people dispersed in many different directions. It was a school setting and there appeared to be two paths on either side of a body of water in between. We went up one of the paths and saw Brandon getting beaten by Auntie Cheryl. At this point my brain processed Brandon being in the 3rd grade for some reason. Of course he was crying, making noise. But eventually, there came a point where the crying stopped, Brandon picked up Auntie Cheryl with little effort and drop kicked her like a goalkeeper kicks a soccerball for a goal kick. She comedically flew through the air, then Brandon dusting off his hands, had a smile of satisfaction. Thats all I remember. I have some weird dreams.

herde was 25 and at our graduation ceremony. she asked me how old I was. she called me adorable when I told her I was 21. she was lightskin, had a milk like complexion, beautiful with short hair, looked like a latina and talked slightly like one but mixed a bit with Canadian. it's funny, I kinda was trying to walk up to a dark-skinned African queen but somehow the dream turned her into a lightskin. she was small and short so I thought she was younger but I was wrong. what's even more funny she had to Google her birthday, just so I can believe what I see. Then when she said her name for the first time I told her a pun cuz I ain "herd" her the first time. and she chuckled.

I dreamt Dominique was in the car with us and she got some kind of tennis or metal infection that caused pain and irritation in the groin area and other area according to mommy, so much so that she jumped out the car door and was left behind with aunty jazz / aunty Ellie somehow for 2 days. then someone finally went back to the area they were at and they were rescued. Dominique had a photo album of her and her dad in a few photos doing poses, and some random photos of me from high school and random stuff, but I never got to see her at my house I don't think, when aunty Ellie them came over and reunited with us. I dapped them up as they entered our house. then in the house me and mommy simulated the reaction Dominique had with whatever that weird infection or disease was that she got.

dom ghosted me again when I actually wanted to hang out, so I had to go into a time warp editing scheme to delete all the times I was myself to her. before the rings around her profile picture over a time series were red all around. after, all were green except the last one which was yellow, so there was still a high chance of her going out with me. then we saw each other at the grocery store and hung out, then after I awkwardly bought us some food (in this scene she turned into an Asian for some reason because I think it was Asian food or something, a restaurant within the store) we were in Aquinas in a rand classroom that was in Ms Bains place in the walkway. Larissa was there, Jerome, Andrew and Koen and other people who graduated Aquinas and SAC in 2019. Then of course I tried to sit as close to Dom as possible in the seating arrangement. Then Me, Andrew and Jerome talked about how we used to have a game with letters of the alphabet and write down songs in the charts or hall of fame, but in this instance, Larissa them were talking about the rock hall of fame or some other wibe which we had no idea about. Then people in Larissa's group and Dominique starting drinking vodka mixed with some green drink, then everyone started talking about vodka and alcohol, then my alarm rang because I have an info vis final at 8am.

Prophet was there too, but not in that context. We went to church before this I think but it was a campus church instead, not Lighthouse. he actually spoke to me and didn't go ghost

I was talking to person in Daniel's class sexually talking about how she likes it I think. he walked into the room, saw me, then stormed outside. I think he walked in when I asked the girl if she was bisexuality since she talked about dealing with girls. the girl was white and short with black hair. she was flirting back heavy too. then I remember having a decent conversation with her, then leaving the room. this room was the same room grade 7 was in with Ms. Watkins. then when I went outside, the first thing I saw was Daniel balled his eyes out as he prayed very violently in tongues and in his own words with his eyes wide open to God asking him to forgive me. As I walked out, he was sitting on the grass with his legs forward. He made eye contact with me with his eyes wide open and red, almost foaming at the mouth. it looked very creepy my "friend" (Jerome) was trying to break my skull. I watched physical 100 last night and my mind decided to run wild. he randomly put me in a headlock, then adjust his arms to crush my jaw in. he was actually trying to kill me. I has to use both my arms and legs to resist it and try to break free. this happened after I was in the Aquinas library with a bunch of ppl from my class like Morgan, Jerome and a bunch of the rest. they were smoking weed and breaking rules in the library. I was kinda just there, not really breaking rules, but then Mrs. Knowles caught everybody and we had to leave the library and everybody I'm there was in trouble. I managed to leave the building and blend into the crowd who was witnessing it outside, and kinda escaped trouble. I guess ppl who were caught in the library got mad at me, Eben though I didn't do anything.

I was in the car with Auntie Ellie and we played games with Alex Oj and Jordan at the house we stayed at. then the videogames turned into an obstacle course that moved around uts platforms at random points so we would fail. everyone else failed but me. they went on with their lives and never tried the obstacle course again. the bottom part was supposed to be played with extra people who would be enemies of us, but we didn't have any so we didn't have to play.

then I turned into an actual kid who was very short and about 6 or 7 years old. then kids who were cool dapped me up randomly, and it was awkward because I never spoke with them before but we went to the same school. all of a sudden I was cool now. we were in a world that seemed very dystopia but we had ships on the Harbour where we still had beautifully aquamarine waters, sun and sand, where the fishes and sea turtles swam. They motioned and peer pressure me to play drums in their Marching Band. apparently ms. Knowles was the principal and Mr. McPhee was the music teacher.

then they said to me that i'm playing the heaviest for this parade. they gave me the heaviest quad drum they had but I wasn't playing it with any sticks at all. all I did was March with it while everyone else played their drum. Mr McPhee was directing us, but it was just drums. then all of a sudden Ms Knowles told us to stop playing, the parade was canceled. we should go home and go back because a ship on the Harbour burned down. we were surrounded by smoke but the water was still aquamarine and beautiful as the sun shined upon it. it was the time before evening struck, about 5pm. I ran through a tunnel above the water that had invisible walls that reflected the rays of the sun. it made for a great photo.

I dreamed that I was hanging out and talking to Tyler The Creator himself. He asked me and his friends how old he was and I said 29, and the rest of his friends got it wrong. He was pretty cool. In the same dream, me and a few people who were in either a movie or commercial that had the wig of a girl, we werre being chased by the actual girl throughout like a huge house. It could have possibly been a representation of Tyler's House. Before this dream, we were in a realistic looking video game in first person where everything tagged with a certain material tried to kill us. Like if a car had the material, they would drive towards us and try to knock us down. It was me and Jerome playing the game and he gave me some tips. Also before that I dreamed about Rea, Roxanne and Vano and we were hanging out doing random things. I think I was in first person of a character that resembled Roxanne and I could control how slow time went. Next thing I remember was Rea was busy with something or on a phone call. I don't remember what Vano was doing they made crocs popcorn out of colored models of crocs. like I was eating a green baby shoe croc that tasted like popcorn.

then I was at an event where they called out people from a huge crowd by name using different categories to present on their category as they related to the category. for example, they called my name and Damajio for "nerd [something]" and I was shocked to hear my name because I didn't prepare anything. it was a huge room full of people at like almost 100 cafeteria tables in a massive room. When they called my name, the dream ended.

But normally, after people presented on a topic, people of the audience would ask questions and debated with other people from the audience. Somehow a girl was so passionate about a topic, her voice ended up cracking while trying to prove her point and she started crying. many Bahamians were cracking up and thought she was crazy.

I fit the description so we went to a corner and she lured me in, and slowly opened her mouth and we started tongue kissing while she rubbed on herself. We did this until she got hot, then I removed her hand, pulled down her panty, and started rubbing and fingering her. then I licked her while fingering her until she creamed. then she fell straight to sleep. I never got to get my release tho so I just left her there. I probably shoulda wake her up and grind her cuz I was still hard.

rashae was my girlfriend. She saidvHey baby what are you doing? with a smile on her face when I was in the men's bathroom but a lot of women came in to watch me pee. the women were lowkey egging me on and watching me way too hard. she came in right before I decided to pull my pants down. Then we went out walking like a couple kinda but she got way shorter when we entered the elevator. Mr knight was at the church arena thing because he had an international performance but we had to leave because so many people were coming they were going to destroy the place because they were stans of Mr knight. I asked him if he had security and he had banter with me because he worried about his safety. Then he said one of his security was named Armando. Before in the church, we sat at pews but then before that I had a razor and decided to twist my hair out into an afro and cut the side of some of it and leave the rest because I was frustrated with my hair and wanted a new style. then at one point there was a choir that performed songs and I knelt down and sang along and gave praise and worship then some ppl who were up with me sang as well then at one point asked me to stand up and go on stage with them. I sang with no Shane at all. then rashae came to church late. the ppl who came up the stage, we sat on the stage seats of the pastors and higher up ppl awkwardly. Then I went back to my pew seats and then I was in the Mr knight scene, then the bathroom scene. but rashae seemed like she became someone else who was way shorter, seemed familiar but I couldn't recognize them at the time. we were about to go home but I chose between taking the stairs and the elevator. I didn't want "Rashae" to walk so I went in the elevator even tho the first floor was one flight of stairs away. then we went in the elevator and me and "Rashae" starting kissing but she was wayy shorter and smaller than I remember so I don't even know if it was her.. and there was some random African ppl going to the 60th floor of the building apparently and were pressing a bunch of buttons where at the 50th floor the elevator began to stop working and start to drop immediately. I ended up suspended in the air waiting for my demise, floating as the elevator descended very quickly. then I decided to push myself towards the ground, crawl over to the emergency stop and smashed the button in. I crawled put of the elevator where it didn't perfectly fit onto the floor I was on. I had no idea where I was, but it was dark. Then I ended up in a videogame that I had made before where it was a bunch of hard enemies that were near impossible to defeat. They were like demons who pounced on my every move and tried to get my blood but throwing sharp objects and weapons at me. I decided to quit the game and wake up.

I had a long dream but the part I really remember was that I ran through a mall and there was a baseball mini game and two children and their mother stood outside it where the children's baseballs went haywire and I had to rescue them for them. The floor was slippery as I ran so I was more clumsy so I bumped into a few things. I had to retrieve the balls twice and the 2nd time, the security seemed passed and was like "Enough! Enough! Enough!" And was about to give me 2 more tries but the mother protected me and I had like 14 more. The mother was white btw.

Also a dream before that, I was kind of watching everything unfold before me. A girl with powers of invisibility broke into prison to do something and came across a woman who worked there in her bedroom, and the woman discovered her secret power. Also before that, it was me and Stazzie back home with Jordan then in our house and Jordan then end up going to the same jail for some reason, idk

Side A

Jesimiel one big African girl came in my house with little to no clothes on and mommy was in her room. I greeted her and was kinda confused why she was at the house. she had a big boungee and was just casually talking about a face scrub I should use. then when mommy saw her in the doorway of her bedroom she was just saying "Nasty" because she thought we had sex cuz she was never in the house before. then Jesimiel's personality turned into Tray's personality kind of, so idk if the dream was just blurry or I forgot how this gal looked. Then Tray asked if we had a specific flavor of face scrub. then I looked in my mother's products and lo and behold, it was there. then I was shocked yelled out to Tray, how she even know that. then Tray leave the house with her big boungee.

Side B

me and Dominique went on a date
she had short hair. it was awkward cuz she does her regularly scheduled program of not answering when you ask questions. but I finally saw why she does this from her point of view literally. she is just nervous and doesn't know what to say sometimes. I asked her if she could love. then eventually we kissed.

They looked full of life with laughter talking with each other almost like they were dancing. I thought I was going in a movie theatre at first but it turned out to be a church that was filled with Melanin-rich people. I had made myself unclean before entering the church and cleaned myself in the church. I went to the men's bathroom when I saw just men and one woman that was an outlier who entered the same section as me and cleaned herself off as well.
